Why we process your personal data

Generally, you can visit our website without providing us with any personal information. We process your personal data for the following purposes:

- Processing orders/sales;
- Sending our price list;
- Be able to call or e-mail you if this is necessary to be able to perform our services;
- Inform you about changes to our services and products;
- We also process personal data if we are legally obliged to do so.

Cookies

General visitor data is recorded on the website. Statistics are not linked to individual users. The statistics are kept by using Google Analytics, which can place a number of cookies on your computer for this. A cookie is a small text file that is stored in the browser of your computer, tablet or smartphone when you first visit our website. We only use analytical cookies.

How long we keep your personal data

We will not retain your personal data any longer than necessary to fulfil the purposes outlined in this privacy statement. On the grounds of fiscal legislation however, we are obliged to retain personal data stated in documents involved in the administration of our business (such as invoices, order forms and packing lists) for 7 years.

To whom we will disclose your personal data

In the ordinary course of business, we will share your personal data with companies that we hire to perform services on our behalf. In case of such personal data sharing we will enter into binding agreement with these vendors, which include data processing clauses to ensure that your personal data is always processed in accordance with applicable laws.

We do not sell your data to third parties and only provide this if necessary for the implementation of our agreement with you or to comply with a legal obligation.

What happens if the privacy statement changes

We may update this privacy statement periodically at our discretion with new developments and/or changes in law or justice. We recommend that you regularly review this privacy statement when visiting our website.
